AVIATION MEDICINE – SURFACE WARFARE OPERATIONS – FLEET MARINE FORCE OPERATIONS

Qualified healthcare professionals may be directly appointed as Commissioned Officers in the Navy Reserve – and immediately find themselves working in an elite medical community with renowned specialists in almost every discipline. With flexible training options, our medical professionals are able to maximize both their civilian and military experiences.

America's Navy Reserve offers a truly diverse variety of academic, clinical and operational settings in which to practice – and an unrivaled sense of pride and fulfillment in knowing that you truly make a difference.

Physicians in the Medical Corps are responsible for delivering top medical care to the men and women of the Navy, Navy Reserve, and Marine Corps, as well as their families. Practicing in hospitals and clinics, aboard Navy ships worldwide, and in support of Marine Corps and Navy Construction Battalion personnel during operational training exercises, they use some of the most advanced techniques and procedures in medicine.

Take some time for yourself and enjoy the sights and sounds of places such as Italy, Spain or Tokyo while you complete your annual training. As a Navy Reserve physician, you'll have ample opportunity to see the world.

Education, medical training, experience and current Navy policies determine an officer's rank upon commissioning. Financial incentives may also be available for physicians in critical specialties.

MAKE THINGS BETTER

You'll experience a whole new practice. Enjoy the prestige that comes from being a Navy Officer. Practice medicine as it was meant to be. In America's Navy Reserve you will be able to concentrate on what really matters – your patients. Whether you're taking part in Field Hospital operations, or landing on the deck of an aircraft carrier to make your morning rounds. Take advantage of all the Navy Reserve has to offer.

This is a once in a lifetime opportunity to serve your country and practice the kind of medicine you enjoy most. You'll work along side the most dedicated medical professionals in the world. Challenge, opportunity and satisfaction are core elements of America's Navy Reserve practice. The Navy will work with you so you can be flexible in scheduling your Reserve time. It really is the best of both worlds. You serve your country – you stay true to yourself.

PHYSICIAN OPPORTUNITIES

As a healthcare professional, you are no stranger to the challenges and opportunities of civilian practice. With your medical knowledge and experience, you are capable of making a significant, lasting impact wherever you go. Are you ready for something more?

In America's Navy Reserve, you'll take your medical expertise to new levels – and into situations unlike any you've experienced before.

BENEFITS

As a Navy Reserve Officer, you will lead men and women who have pledged to defend their nation. It's a great responsibility – and an honor – of the highest order. The rewards, of course, for meeting such a challenge are also great.

For those who have already served in the military, America's Navy Reserve offers you the opportunity to maintain your rank and continue earning points towards retirement. For newly Commissioned Officers, service brings a sense of pride and accomplishment – even as it enables you to build the technical and leadership skills to raise your civilian career to new heights.

In return for your service and dedication, the Navy Reserve will provide you with benefits to enhance both your military and civilian lives:

- Receive 4 days of basic pay for only 2 days worked each drill weekend
- Educational financial assistance
- VA home loans
- Low-cost insurance options, including up to $400,000 in life insurance
- Military Commissary and Navy Exchange privileges for you and your family
- Access to Officers' Clubs worldwide
- Special pay incentives may be available for officers possessing certain in-demand skill sets
- Retirement after 20 qualifying years of service
